TOPIC - ADVANCES IN NEONATALOLOGY

At the end of 2016, we presented you with some exciting news in the field of canine neonatology, the area of veterinary medicine that focuses on newborn puppies. This research was highlighted during the recent ISCFR – International Symposium on Canine and Feline Reproduction. The veterinary group behind it, NeoCare, also shared with us their recommended protocol to better identify at-risk newborn puppies right after they are born. During our fun and interactive seminar, we will walk you through it!
