This is a show-and-go format, so nothing can be left in the building overnight. Indoor benching is very limited; absolutely no grooming indoors. If you do groom indoors, you will be asked to leave. This is a place to take you and your dog to get away from the heat as well as a space for obedience and rally exhibitors who are running multiple dogs or events—a place to keep dogs safe temporarily, while exhibitors are actively involved in showing and trialing.

Masks may be required at the discretion of the judges. Be prepared to wear one if asked.

The show is not open to the public this year. We are allowing conformation exhibitors to stay and watch other breeds in their group and obedience exhibitors to be in the building only when their class is on. This year there will be no vendors at the show. We are hoping that next year's shows will be back to normal with vendors and spectators. Please remember when we were planning this show the province still had many restrictions in place.

We do ask that you remember to social distance at all times.
